

PRIVACY POLICY THE LAW OFFICE OF KELLY T. BRAUN, PLLC

Effective January 1, 2021

BY VISITING THIS WEBSITE, YOU AGREE TO BE BOUND BY THIS PRIVACY POLICY. IF YOU DO NOT AGREE WITH ANY OF THE TERMS OF THIS POLICY, PLEASE DO NOT USE THIS WEBSITE.

The Law Office of Kelly T. Braun, PLLC (the “firm”) does not, without permission, disclose your personal data to third parties outside of the firm, except as may be required by law.

You may use this website without furnishing personal data. Some tools within the website, however, allow you to voluntarily provide us with personal data, such as your name and email address and other contact information and any information about a potential legal matter. Upon the use of these tools, this website may process such data, which will be used for system administration, to process your requests and answer your inquiries.

The firm may also collect information by sending “cookies” to your browser, which will store them in your computer in order to facilitate your browsing. A “cookie” primarily stores information concerning your visits and preferences as to your browsing on this website. You can prevent this storing by adjusting your browser settings.

The purpose of this website is to provide information about The Law Office of Kelly T. Braun, PLLC, the attorney’s qualifications, experience, and services offered. While some of the information on this site is about legal issues, it is not, nor is intended as legal advice. Any prior or potential results or scenarios described on this website do not guarantee a similar or particular outcome. Readers of this website should not take, or refrain from taking, any action based on any information contained on this website without first consulting with an attorney.

Changes to this Policy. The firm reserves the right to modify this Policy at any time. If changes are made to this Policy, they will be posted on the website and indicate the effective date of the change. If material changes are made to this Policy, you will be notified you by email or through the website.